

VERMONT NEWS.

Vermont Enriches an Actress.

After a career of unusual activity and variety, Harry M. Bennett, the veteran theatrical manager, died April 9 at his stock farm in Farmington, N. J. He was born in Burlington in 1831. His father, Judge Lemuel Bennett of the Vermont supreme court, desired a legal career for his son, but the young man made a different choice and went to California during the early gold excitement. In company with Henry C. Lee, he organized the Lee & Bennett Great North American Circus. During the war he was sutler of the third Pennsylvania regiment; then he became interested in the iron industry; later he returned to the amusement field and controlled the Bijou circuit of theatres in Pittsburgh, Boston, Baltimore, Brooklyn, New York and Jersey City.

Mr. Bennett's stock farm was his hobby. He bought it 17 years ago for $75,000, and has since spent great sums of money in improving and stocking it. It was rated at several million dollars, but his estate figures about $1,000,000. Of this the stock farm goes to Ira H. Shattuck of Minneapolis, whose sister became Mr. Bennett's wife during their residence in Burlington; $200,000 goes to his former secretary, P. J. McNulty of Pittsburgh, and he left $300,000 to a daughter, the actress, who was his devoted companion during his long illness.

Automobile Runs Away.

E. E. Bamforth, a Waterbury hardware dealer, had an unfortunate experience, with an automobile Friday, on his way home from Jonesville, where he had purchased the vehicle. When near Bolton he lost control of the machine and it ran over a steep embankment into the field striking in a stream which flowed by the road at that point. Mr. Bamforth was thrown from the automobile and sustained serious injuries in his stomach. The place where the accident happened was remote from help so a passing train was flagged and a Waterbury doctor, who was about was called to assist in the relief of Mr. Bamforth.

Old Vermont Sold.

L. E. Lunt, of Melrose, Mass., was the highest bidder for the old battleship Vermont, until lately the receiving ship at the Brooklyn navy yard. The amount bid was $15,680 and it is said the owner will break up the craft for the junk it will produce.

The Vermont was discarded from the list of United States vessels last December, being in worse condition than some of her sister ships, such as the Minnesota and New Hampshire, which, having reached the stage of being "unserviceable," have been turned over to the naval brigades of Massachusetts and New York.

Newport Boy Killed.

Ashe Goodell, the 6-year-old son and only child of Albert Goodell, living in the west of Newport, was killed by a peculiar accident, Wednesday. While alone in the dooryard, he managed to flip up the front end of a traveling sled in such a way that when it fell, as appearances would indicate, it brought the child underneath. When found, the child was dead with one runner resting directly across his neck. The chin was bruised, showing the runner had struck the chin first and then slid off onto the neck. As no bones were broken it is evident the child died from strangulation.

Vermont Merinos for Australia.

P. B. Norton and Clark Bros., of Vergennes, started last week with 60 merino sheep for Sydney, Australia. They went by the Canadian Pacific railway to Vancouver, B. C., where they will embark on the royal mail steamer Moana for their destination. The trip, barring accidents, will take about 42 days' time. These sheep were bought in Addison county and are valued at $10,000. This is Mr. Norton's seventh trip to Australia, from which he expects to return about the first of September. C. M. Clark will accompany Mr. Norton to Vancouver, and his brother, R. D. Clark, will take his place and go on to Sydney.

Concerning building prospects at Newport this summer the Express and Standard says: "With the building of a new depot, schoolhouse, and the prospects of a new parsonage, building over the Newport House and Drew block, to say nothing of the faint prospects of the Federal building and one or two dwelling houses, business ought to take on an extensive boom during the coming summer."

Gen. John G. McCullough will be the principal speaker at a banquet of the Young Men's Club at Bellows Falls Friday evening.

The licenses for seine fishing along the shore of Lake Champlain, which expired April 15, have been extended by the state fish and game commissioners until May 1, as it was thought that the fishermen on the Canadian shore would continue until that time.

Work is to be begun on the interior of the Congregational church at Northfield, about May 1. The repairs will include steeling, new pews, hardwood floor, and a memorial window, costing in all about $2,500.

Arresto Boffino, of Barre, is preparing to print a humorous paper devoted entirely to the Italian colony of that city. The paper, which is named Il Buffone, will contain about 16 pages of reading matter with a liberal supply of cartoons drawn by Mr. Boffino. The illustrations are from the most part drawings of well-known members of the Barre Italian colony. The paper will appear about May 1.

A Japanese shrub tree, which has been growing a long time in the county court house yard in Montpelier, has been dug up in order that the grounds can be graded. This tree is of a rare species, and was brought from Washington by E. P. Walton when congressman. He planted it in his own yard and the other was given to the county. Several people have taken small shoots to replant.

There are over 2,300 names on the payroll of the Vermont Marble Company, of Proctor and the amount for the month of March was about $76,000.

Rev. Father Lachance, who has been pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart at Bennington, and the church at North Bennington, for eleven years, was presented with $100 in gold from each of the churches, on his departure for Island Pond last week.

Ernest, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Larrow, of Ferrisburg Center, was found in an orchard about three quarters of a mile from his home after having been missing for a day. A systematic search was made during the time, a bloodhound finally being used in the search. The little boy does not appear to be much the worse for his fast and exposure to the cold.

George H. Briggs, formerly of Williamstown, who was tried at Newport, N. H., for the murder of a neighbor, Mrs. Jones, and committed to the New Hampshire state prison at Concord, January 18, to serve a life sentence, committed suicide in his cell Wednesday night by hanging.

In connection with the efforts to secure a removal of the county buildings from Newfane to Brattleboro, says the Brattleboro correspondent of the Bellows Falls Times, the question is asked as to what extent Brattleboro will assist. Brattleboro people recognize the fact that the burden of the expense will fall entirely upon them. It will be necessary to secure the consent of the legislature to the removal and the passage of an act enabling Brattleboro to bond for the purpose. It will be necessary first to secure the enabling act, then the question will come up as to what the people of the town are willing to do to bring the buildings to this place.

News has been received that the assistant secretary of the navy, Charles H. Darling, has been ill for several days at his home in Washington, with malaria fever.

The following have been admitted to the soldiers home at Bennington during the past week: W. L. Reals, late Company A, 2nd Vt. Vols., from Williams-town, Mass.; J. H. Douglass, late Company F, 2nd Mass. Vols., Spanish-American war from Springfield; Ira Hawks, late Company M, 1st Vt. Cav., from Bennington.

At a meeting of the directors of the Rutland railroad, held in New York, Friday, Percival W. Clement tendered his resignation as president of the road, to take effect May 1, and it was accepted. Henry G. Smith resigned as vice-president and his resignation was also accepted. At the request of Dr. W. Seward Webb, Mr. Smith will continue to act as purchasing agent for the road until his successor is appointed.

A hot water boiler in George W. Smith's residence at White River Junction exploded Saturday. The basement and dining room were wrecked and slight cuts from broken crockery. The Smith family were unhurt.

At the annual meeting of the Barre Entertainment association it was proposed that the association donate $2,000 to the Aldrich free library for the purchase of books and pictures or furnishings when the same is erected. The association now has a fund of a little over $2,500, and the giving of $2,000 to the library trustees will in no way interfere with its work.

Burlington industries will be greatly augmented by a magnificent $100,000 plant to be built by the Lumiere company at North America this season, says the Rutland News. The splendid prospects of Burlington in the manufacturing line are exceedingly gratifying to the entire state. The work of the citizens of that town in securing new enterprises is helpful to the commonwealth in directing the attention of the world of manufacturers to the advantages of Vermont as a site for factories.

In regard to the project to build a dam across the Connecticut river the Brattleboro correspondent of the Springfield Sunday Republican said: "The Boston & Maine railroad has in the past offered objections to the more, but these interested are now assured that the railroad company will not longer oppose. The International Paper company has become somewhat interested in the project. That company is contemplating new mills and is seriously considering the feasibility of Brattleboro as a location, if water power can be obtained."

Willie Hollenbecker, a Russian boy aged five years, was accidentally shot in the temple, Wednesday, by Mrs. Charles Johnson, a neighbor, who playfully pointed a revolver at him and said "Your money or your life." She "didn't know it was loaded." The boy will probably recover.

James McNulty, a Barre section hand, was stabbed in the head and back last week by an Italian, Giuseppe Alaricci, known as "Big Joe." The affray took place at the home of Adeline Garabaldi, jealousy being the cause. "Big Joe" was arrested Wednesday at East Barre, but escaped from the officers and was recaptured. He was bound over to county court in the sum of $10,000 and is now in jail at Montpelier.

The Boston & Maine railroad will begin soon the extension of its double track from Westminister to East Putney. It is the policy of the railroad people to gradually extend the double track until the line is made complete from Springfield, Mass., to Windsor.

The Manchester Journal tells the following story: "A Vermont farmer went over into New Hampshire to visit a cousin, and his cousin explained to him the New Hampshire system. He says: Over in Vermont your large towns have only one representative, while here they have several according to population. The Vermont farmer replied: 'That's all right, it's a rule among farmers that when the seed is poor to put more in the hill.'"

Percival W. Clement is the principal stockholder in the New England Hotel company which is to build a 20 story hotel at Fifth avenue and Forty-fourth street, New York.

A petition in bankruptcy has been filed by Wilbur O. Lane, a hay and straw dealer of Montpelier. He has liabilities of $5,546.88 and assets of $11,432.35, of which $5,550 is claimed exempt.

George Prior, 50, of Orwell, a furniture dealer and undertaker, was thrown from a wagon, Friday, and his neck was broken, killing him instantly.

Burlington has between 700 and 800 dogs, said to be a larger number in proportion to its size than any other city.

About $700 was raised for the support of the baseball team of the University of Vermont, Burlington, at a recent meeting.

A Doctor's Bad Flight.

"Two years ago, as a result of a severe cold, I lost my voice," writes Dr. M. L. Scarbrough, of Hebron, Ohio, "then began an obstinate cough. Every remedy known to me as a practicing physician for 35 years, failed, and I daily grew worse. Being urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, I found quick relief, and for the last ten days have felt better than for two years." Positively guaranteed. Throat and Lung troubles by Frank G. Landry. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

GENERAL NEWS.

New Brigadier General Retired.

Brigadier General Isaac D. DeRussy, Andrew S. Burt and Michael V. Sheridan, recently appointed, were placed on the retired list last week on their own applications after 40 years' service. One of the vacancies in the list of brigadier generals thus created was filled by the promotion of Col. Mott Hooton, 28th Infantry, and he was regularly retired for age. Gen. Hooton is a native of Pennsylvania, and entered the army as a volunteer sergeant in June, 1861. He recently has served in the Philippines. It is expected that three more colonels who served during the civil war also will be promoted to the grade of brigadier general in a few days and similarly retired on their own applications.

Frank R. Stockton, the well known novelist, died suddenly at Washington Sunday morning. The cause of his death was paralysis, immediately resulting from a hemorrhage in the brain. He was a guest at the banquet held Wednesday night of the National Academy of Sciences, when he was taken suddenly and mysteriously ill, and did not recover.

A new portrait of President Buchanan has been hung in the White House. It is the work of William M. Chase, of New York and was painted by order of Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnson, the niece of Buchanan, who was the mistress of the White House during his administration. Shortly after Mr. Buchanan's death a picture was painted by a local artist and given a place in the green room. This portrait never pleased Mrs. Johnson, and she has been unremitting in her efforts to have it removed. Finally she convinced President Roosevelt that the picture was not a good one and obtained permission to replace it.

Good Outlook for New England Fishing During the Coming Season.

Refreshing, delightful, cheery, and ever welcome spring is at hand. The quiet stillness of the forest is broken by the merry sounds of the woodland songsters and the soft murmur of the babbling brook as it winds its way toward the ocean. These are the true harbingers of the approaching season, and are eagerly looked forward to each year by that army of sportsmen who proclaim "Isaac Walton" as their king, and to say there is no section in the country where they can satisfy their appetite for good fishing as well as in the confines of old New England. The exodus toward Maine has already commenced, for in all this grand country, Maine, with its magnificent area of forest lands covered with an intricate network of streams and rivers and abounding in lakes and ponds, stands alone both in fishing and hunting, and the supply may almost be termed inexhaustible, for the state looks after these preserves in a faithful and efficient manner. They are continually stocked with the choicest variety of fish, and are safely guarded during the close season. When one considers that there are over 1,600 lakes and ponds and over 500 streams in the state of Maine where good fishing can be indulged in, including the best specimens of land locked salmon and speckled trout, and that according to the naturalist the average trout will lay from 500 to 1,500 eggs in a single season, then there is surely no danger of a scarcity!

First comes Sebago Lake, situated in the southern portion of Maine a few miles from Portland, celebrated for its large land-locked salmon and trout. Farther north one will find a number of lakes and ponds, all stocked with the choicest of fish from the famous salmon bass, pickerel, etc., until one reaches the far-famed Rangeley Region, which has long been celebrated as a great game territory, and the reputation of which as a hunting ground is only equalled by the remarkable fishing which can be obtained in the vast bodies of inland water which cover this section. Farther north is Moosehead, the pride of New England's lakes, easily reached by the Boston & Maine Railroad and its connections, and joining with a chain of lakes and rivers which are a source of divine joy and pleasure to the fisherman or canoeist.

Washington county has also become prominent as a fishing region on account of its easy accessibility; and so one might go on indefinitely mentioning the different places so easily reached within the borders of the Pine Tree state, not touching on the vast areas in the Province of New Brunswick and Newfound-land. Nor are these the only places where success crown the fishing sport, for only a few hours' ride from Boston is the famous Lake Umbagog in New Hampshire, around whose shores in days gone by the red man was wont to hunt and fish; also Lake Sunapee, which nestles cozily among the hills of South-east New Hampshire, and which needs no further resort for the vacationist or fisherman. The largest trout lake which sail over this lake afford a fine opportunity for the sportsman to try his hand without inconvenience, in any portion of the lake; also the innumerable mountain streams and brooks, where trout fishing is a sport coherent with the spring life of the natives; the same in Vermont, where the waters of the historic Champlain form a delightful retreat for the person desiring a good sport, coupled with an ideal camping ground, and the quiet stillness of the ever beautiful Memphrigoog, which extends into the borders of Canada, serves as an attraction for the devotees of this sport, and so on down to the old Bay State, where those western streams and lakes trout, pickerel, bass, etc., are booked every year in large quantities.

Thus while the heart is gladly welcoming the advent of spring with its merry voices, and the woodsman is preparing to again enter his forest home, while the fish are frolicking in the pools and streams after their long season's imprisonment, the sportsman is not at all idle, he has cleaned and got in readiness all his paraphernalia; his camping outfit is being patched and repaired, and the faithful guide is anticipating a visit to those famed haunts and woods where true enjoyment in the pursuit of nature's purest sport can be had.

Another week and the rush will be on; ample accommodations will be provided for everyone; then good luck and a heavy string to the sportsman for 1902.

The pamphlet called "Fishing and Hunting," published by the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine Railroad, describes the fishing resorts in detail, and will be sent to any address on receipt of a two cent stamp.

SCRIPTURE VERSES.
Gen. iii. 8-10; Isa. xlv. 22; 1 Tim. vi. 12; Isa. vi. 8; John i. 35-39; Gal. i. 15, 16; Mark ii. 14.

LESSON THOUGHTS.

God's voice may be heard in childhood. "Heaven lies about us in our infancy" and it boys and girls will only answer "Here am I!" when God calls, guidance, both providential and spiritual, will be vouchsafed to them through life.

God's voice is most plainly heard by those who are already consecrated to him. If a child be sincerely devoted to God's service, whether by his own infantile decision, or by the solemn baptismal covenant of his parents, or by some Christian pastor or teacher, that fact is always recognized by God.

SELECTIONS.

The power of devoting children in their earliest years to the service of God is well illustrated by the story told by Metcalf, in his History of Rome, of the famous Carthaginian general, Hannibal. When he was nine years of age, his father, Hamilcar, proposed to take him on one of his military expeditions, which offer the young Hannibal eagerly accepted. His father then bade him to devote himself once for all to the service of his country—Carthage—and with his hand upon the altar to swear eternal enmity to Rome. This dedication in youth determined the course of his whole life.

Like Samuel we should answer God's call by "Here am I," because, 1. It is easier to be a Christian in youth. 2. Then it gives us a much longer time in which to serve God. 3. We may not live to be old, and thus by putting off our duty we may fall altogether. 4. We may escape many evils and dangers. No one can sow wild oats in youth, and not reap a harvest of evil.

SUGGESTED HYMNS.
Come to the Savior, make no delay. When he cometh, when he cometh. Quiet, Lord, my forehead hark. O come to the Savior. Young men in Christ the Lord. Oh! no let the word depart.

N. E. A. to Minneapolis.

The Canadian Pacific Railway—Soo Line, is arranging for a special N. E. A. train to leave Boston for the Boston & Maine station at about 9 a. m., July 5, and run through to Minneapolis without change, arriving at the convention city early on the morning of the 7th. This train it is said, will consist of the various styles of day coaches and sleeping cars furnished by this great railway, enabling teachers and friends to practically take their choice, although it is assumed that most of them will require palace sleeping car accommodations.

The route will be via the Boston & Maine, through Concord, N. H., and White Mountains and Passumpsic Divisions of the B. & M. to Newport, Vermont, thence over the Canadian Pacific Ry via Sault Ste. Marie and the Soo Line.

Special arrangements are being made to commissary for all, both those who will care for light meals only, and the most fastidious dining car epicure. The publicity which in the years past has been given this great railway line makes it unnecessary to enter into details as to the equipment or actual beauties of the country traversed, as they are now so favorably regarded by the traveling public.

The reputation the Canadian Pacific enjoys for handling large bodies traveling as excursionists, renders a trip to the convention that will be practically personally conducted without the extra cost incident to that method of traveling.

The Company's agents in Boston will commence assignment of space in the sleeping cars of this train at any time it may be desired and will be glad to answer by correspondence or through its experienced traveling passenger agents any and all questions pertaining to the trip.

A New Embalming Fluid.

The body of John Leek of Battle Creek, Mich., an aged negro who died six months ago, which was turned over to an undertaker to test a new embalming fluid, has been found to have become of the consistency of vulcanized rubber, and might readily pass for a statue of black marble as the petrified flesh is hard enough to take a polish. There is not the slightest trace of decomposition or wasting. The experimenter says the fluid will preserve a body for centuries.
